b) Rink Operations on Stat Holidays – If the rink is open for 4 hours with 2 hours of public skate and 1.5 hours of $99 ice rental, there would be a net loss of $301.04. If the rink is open for 4 hours with 2 hours of public skate and 1.5 hours of minor sports rental, there would be a net loss of $376.64. If the rink is open for 6 hours with 2 hours of public skate and 3.25 hours of $99 ice rental, there would be a net loss of $339.00. If the rink is open for 6 hours with 2 hours of public skate, 2.00 hours of minor sports rental and 1.25 hours of $99 ice rental, there would be a net loss of $351.22.

The rink has not been open during holidays for the last 7 year. Previously we opened on holidays but the issue became budget issue with the losses that we were incurring. The Pool is open during holidays. We can try and open on holidays and report back.

MOTION: TO OPEN THE ICE RINK FOR 4 HOURS FOR LABOUR DAY AS WELL AS THANKSGIVING AND THE FAMILY DAY HOLIDAY.

4. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

a) Fundraising (1/2 hr discussion) – Britannia needs to decide what direction we are taking in relation to fundraising.

Point: We do accept public donations and we have sold cash calendars in the past.

The Board needs to decide whether we should have fundraising activities and the purpose of the funds that are raised. We do some fundraising to contribute back to programs. What type of information would the Board like to initiate this discussion? We are a publicly funded organization and when we consider fundraising we have to consider budget implications.

How much money are we bringing in right now? Is fundraising feasible on the side of management’s desk? Approximate funds through grants and agreement with Vancouver Coastal Health i.e. $3,800. Fund development CAPC is a grant. Legacy is a possibility. Relationship building is necessary. Don’t have infrastructure for small donations i.e. Beyond the Blue Box. Category: grant, scholarship, cash donation. We would have to sit down and review resources to set up the system and resources to maintain it. Continue the conversation in June. Where are the current fund raising is going to and what other service that requires more money. Clear idea of where we are at now.

b) Election Forum Update – Currently these are the four dates for the Election Forum.

6:30-8:30 Tues. Apr 30 Britannia - Vancouver-Mt Pleasant; Facilitator: Craig
6:00-8:00 Thurs May 2: Ray-cam for VMP; Facilitator: Craig
10:30-12:30 Sat 4 May: Britannia for Vancouver-Hastings; Facilitator: TBD
10:30-12:30 Sun 5 May: Trout Lake for Vancouver-Kingsway.
c) Annual General Meeting – AGM will be on Wednesday May 22\textsuperscript{nd} in Gym D. The high school students from Theory of Knowledge class will help out with the ballot. The Planning & Development, Senior and Volunteer Committee will present. Perhaps the high school band students can provide the entertainment. Still need to figure out who the guest speaker will be. There was a suggestion that Andrew Pascal could be the guest speaker.

BREAK 7:20 p.m.

5. GROUNDSWELL PRESENTATION Grassroots Economic Alternatives – Cole Robertson, Matt Hern, Gilad Babchuck, Russell Gendron and Isaac Oomer reported on their research and collaborative thinking done over the course of five weeks in response to the query “What are some approaches that the Britannia site and organization might take to better meet the needs of all youth in the community?” The specific questions were posed by the Executive Director of Britannia Community Services Centre, Cynthia Low, and revolve around the relationship between various elements of Britannia and a shifting group of high-risk, primarily low-income youth who are commanding a disproportionate amount of time and energy across the institutional spectrum. More importantly, this group of youth are challenging and revealing critical disagreements among key players, employees and institutions within the Britannia site as to the purpose and core values of the community centre. Given the scope of the project and specific limitations, Groundswell group chose not to extensively interview the youth in question themselves due to methodological issues, ethical concerns and time constraints. They chose instead to focus on the network of service providers, constituent institutions and the larger Britannia Centre itself. The research was generated by a volunteer group of seven young people and two mentors working with no budget and a limited mandate. They met weekly for three hours, within a five-week window.

The following are seven core strengths that Groundswell has identified: 1. Britannia is staffed with wonderful, caring, motivated and incredibly hard working people. 2. There’s good enthusiasm and willingness for change at Britannia. 3. Britannia has a history of diverse population, who have found the grounds to be a safe space on which to gather. 4. Britannia site has a lot to offer. The site is huge, and there is plenty of room and large buildings for people to engage in various activities. 5. Britannia has a number of local organizations and agencies nurturing mental, physical, emotional and spiritual health. 6. There are a floating, growing population of fifty to sixty youth who are not tied to any particular program or institution. These youth are very resilient, highly social, polite, strong-willed, free spirited and quite liberal. 7&8. Britannia is more than just a hang-out; it is a safe environment for many kids, of all ages, races, backgrounds and risk levels. 9. It has become evident over the last few weeks that communication is a large part of why the current ‘problem solving’ has not been successful here at Britannia.

SOLUTIONS: Each of these ideas reflects solutions to or ameliorations of specific issues Groundswell encountered, and each builds on the existing strengths. The ideas are not comprehensive but intended to begin a series of conversations. The researchers have divided these ideas into three categories – short, medium and long-term possibilities – and each will need significant fleshing out and discussion.

Short Term (Staff Connection): 1. A project that would lend well to illuminating Britannia’s many beneficial facets and goings on in a weekly newsletter; a regular and concise list of current activities and programs that inform staff, students and users of the resources at the complex. 2. Bi-weekly gatherings for staff centered on meal sharing to better communication with and build empathy for one another. 3.
Various team building activities for staff. Medium Term: 1. Britannia should have a neighbourhood fair where staff and students show off art, projects, food and offer tours of Britannia to broaden the awareness of the site. 2. Britannia would benefit greatly by creating a very prominent and welcoming central foyer. 3. In order to create the community sense necessary for mutual understanding and respect, basic needs must be satisfied. 4. Begin to cater to and create a variety of attractive programming for standard curriculum students, who at the moment receive little attention mainly due to intense focus on the more immediate and at times emergency-type issues with other students. Capturing an already integrated student body, who make up a large portion of the Britannia population, and enabling them to thrive within their school will undoubtedly cause a positive ripple effect and shift away from its bad name. 5. A shift toward more youth-led programming gives the staff the opportunity to observe what youth can create for themselves. 6. To make the space at Britannia safer after school hours, open up the resources of the high school building to community use during those time, for example by offering night school. 7. Redefining the story that unifies the community. Long Term: Britannia needs to create a cohesive mandate for the entire complex. 2. Getting youth away from the corners and into programs and class means asking what they want.
