Classic Comedy
Sci-Fi (1974)

An outrageous spoof of Mary Shelley's gothic Frankenstein tale. Frederick, grandson of the infamous Dr Frankenstein, has spent his life living down the family legend. When he discovers his grandfather's diary, he returns to the family castle to replicate his ancestor's experiments. In the process, he creates one very unique monster. Gene Wilder's performance as Frederick is a manic marvel.

THE LAST PICTURE SHOW

In the top 10 all-time greatest American movies. Set in the early 1950s, the past is evoked through black-and-white film and Hank Williams on the radio. Director Peter Bogdanovich creates a world that is both rooted in its era and full of universal themes of growing up, growing old, first loves, the restlessness of late teens, the contradictions of middle-age, and the facades people wear in public, in small towns in particular.
